Woods Named To MSC Alumni Post

Carl N. Woods, assistant professor of history and political science at Morehead State College, has been named Executive Secretary of the Morehead Alumni Association, President Adron Doran announced today.

Woods, who graduated from Morehead in 1939, received his M.A. degree from George Peabody College in 1941 and has been at Morehead since 1956.

The newly appointed Executive Secretary was in the Floyd County school system for 17 years as a teacher, principal and supervisor and taught school at the University of South Carolina for four years before coming to Morehead.

A native of Prestonsburg, Woods is married and has two children.

"I know Carl will do an exceedingly good job as Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association as we are continually expanding," said President Adron Doran.

Past Year Was Finest In Morehead History

The 1956-57 school year was the finest in Morehead State College history.

It saw the erection of two fine structures which have been sorely needed for many years—the fieldhouse and the Doran Student House.

It saw an increase in the student body never before equaled and keeping in pace with the increased enrollment, a bigger and better faculty was provided.

Athletically, Morehead had its best year ever with OVC championships in basketball and baseball and a close second place finisher in the track meet.

Nation-wide recognition came to Morehead's way with the state's first high school citizenship day in which senatorial candidates spoke to Morehead and surrounding area students. And the Writers' Workshop added lustre to Morehead's well-rounded program by bringing in out-of-state persons and letting the outside world know that Morehead offers a well-diversified program.

Much was accomplished during the past year under the leadership of President Adron Doran. Bigger and better things are planned for next year and the next with the present renovation project underway, plans for the addition of more classroom space, additional faculty members being added, the formation of the Civic Music Association, the move to the new Doran Student House and many other projects which are still in the planning stage.

The affable administrator has also distinguished himself in other fields. He has edited a small town daily, served as a

College Will Have Own Switchboard

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, has announced that the General Telephone Company of Kentucky is planning to install a new telephone system at the college.

George Strunk, district manager for the telephone company, stated that the new automatic switchboard has been ordered and every effort will be made to install the new system by the start of the fall semester.

The new dial equipment will make it possible for calls to be made from station to station in the college without going through the main exchange and without the assistance of a college operator.

The college will also have a switchboard and an operator to answer all incoming calls and direct such calls to the desired telephone on the campus.

In anticipation of this installation the new Morehead telephone directory has been published without listing the various departments of the college. Until such time as the new system can be installed it will be necessary to call the Morehead information operator for the telephone numbers of the various departments.

"The installation of a new system will not only mean better telephone service for the college but will also save us money as we grow, which is in keeping with the college's policy of operating efficiently and economically," Dr. Doran said.

Survey Shows People In The West Live Longest

It has long been known that women in the United States outlive the men. In spite of the fact that men are supposed to be the stronger of the sexes, women are actually stronger as far as life span and resistance to disease is concerned.

A recent state-by-state survey gives the states where citizens live longest. It is interesting to note that men and women live longest in a cluster of six states in the west—Central United States—Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas. The life expectancy in these states is about 68 years, which is above average.

In the rest of the Midwest and in the East and South, the men's life expectancy ranges close to the national average of 66.3 years.

In general, wives can expect to live at least six years longer than their husbands, and this is true in almost any part of the country. Women like men, live longest in the West North Central region, where their average life expectancy is between 73 and 74 years, about two years greater than the national average.

For the men at age 65, the greatest life expectancy can be found in Arkansas and Florida. Arkansas has an average life expectancy for men at 65 of 79.1, while Florida's average is 78.8.

Also for men, these are the states where life expectancy at birth is lowest: Nevada has the lowest life expectancy of all, with a 62.8 average, followed by Arizona, with a 63.3 average, and then New Mexico, with a 64.3, and South Carolina with a 64.6 average.

For women, states in which the life expectancy is lowest are: West Virginia, with a 71.1 average, Alabama with a 71.2 average, Kentucky, Delaware and New York with a 71.3 average, Arizona with a 71.4 average, and Nevada with a 71.5 average.

The best life expectancy for men, at birth, is to be found in the West North Central states. Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska all have 68.2 averages, while Kansas has a 68.0 average. South Dakota at the top has a 68.4 average. North Dakota is only a tenth of a point behind, with a 67.9 average.

Writers' Confab A True Success

This summer's edition of the Writers' Workshop has been an extremely successful meeting.

In doing out compliments, it would be impossible to mention everyone.

We would like to thank the visiting staff members. Hollis Summers, James Still, Robert Haze, and his charming wife Pat, Woodridge Spears, Billy Clark and delightful wife, Wilma Dykeman, Robert Francis, James Stokely and Joe Cresson and most charming brother half have all performed a yeoman's work over the two-week period.

And then we would like to offer our congratulations to Workshop Director Albert Stewart for a job well done. Rarely do you see a person devote the time and energy to a project which Mr. Stewart devoted to the Writers' Workshop.

After such a fine workshop this year, we are looking forward to the biggest and best workshop in Morehead history next year.

Tennis Tourney Is Discussed

The first Morehead Men's Open Tennis Tournament was held last week on the College courts. A large group of students, faculty members, townspeople and nearby townspeople entered and we can say it was an extremely fine tournament.

The Trail Blazer would like to commend co-chairman Ed Lucke and Russ Brown. Their efforts made possible a successful tournament. Ed spent from four to five hours each evening on the tennis courts and capably kept things moving in an orderly fashion.

In any first endeavor, the first Morehead Men's Open Tennis Tournament had its faults. . . . the largest being an unblemish as when the drawing was held.

In an effort to be as fair and unbiased as possible, the tournament co-chairmen drew all names from a hat in filling out the brackets. As the luck of the draw would have it, one bracket was too-heavy with the better players in the area, thus eliminating many of the entries in the first round.

The Trail Blazer would like to suggest that in future tournaments, a number of players (ranging from four to eight) be seeded so a drawing such as this year will not occur again.

But all-in-all, the tournament was well worth having, as the spirited galleries who crowded the courts each day will testify.

Youngsters Saluted

The Trail Blazer wishes to salute three grand people who have given their gift to Morehead State College.

Catherine L. Braun, Amy Irene Moore and William M. Caudill are leaving Morehead at the end of the summer term.

Morehead State College still in its infancy, will never again know three such wonderful youngsters as the aforementioned persons.

While you are leaving us in body Catherine Braun, Amy Moore and William Caudill, we sincerely ask that you never leave us in heart. May the Lord God bless you all. We will always be with us as students and faculty members in our every thought and in our prayers.

Inflation is increasing the cost of everything—even that of being bored. Because we had only a measly $57 in cash on him, a Temple, Tex., man who had just had the other night was forced by the bandit to write and fork over a check for $100.

Good Job, Marzan

After a period of inactivity, the Morehead State College band camp was reactivated this summer.

Fred Marzan, Director of the College band, worked long hours prior to the band camp getting out letters and mimeographed material to bandmen in Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. With the help of his wife, a beautiful brochure was published.

But the inactivity of the past seemed to have cast a spell over area bandmen and early enrollment was disappointing. After all of the work done, it looked as if the band camp would be a flop.

Then a last minute rush by the energetic Marzan and members of the music department did the trick as around 70 high school students enrolled—by far the best group in Morehead history.

The group of youngsters worked hard for almost two weeks and the fine concert they presented Saturday evening is a fitting testimonial to their efforts here.

We understand that in the future, the camp will be not only for band members but for vocalists and vocal groups.

Boxing Needs Scrutiny

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan recently ordered James D. Norris, Jr. and Arthur Wirtz to sever all their connections with the Madison Square Garden Corporation. The order was highly significant and even historical since the judge also ordered the dissolution of the International Boxing Club of New York and the International Club of the Americas.

Norris is president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation and Wirtz is a member of the Board of Directors.

Judge Ryan, in ordering the action, said he was hopeful that the sport of boxing could be reestablished as a competitive sport, with entry of all, including managers, being dependent upon their skill, ability and initiative.

The fact that boxing has been tied up pretty closely, either by Uncle Mike Jacobs in former years, or by the International Boxing Club in more recent years, has been a black mark on the sports scene of the United States. Too often a deserving fighter was not given a chance at the title, even though he was the No. 1 contender because he did not have the right manager, or because he and his manager had not knuckled under to the men who controlled the stadium, or the right contracts, and so on.

We hope Judge Ryan's order, which has been long awaited, will at last clear up the unfortunate situation which has existed for some years in the boxing industry.

It is hoped the widely-heralded news of the hatching of a whooping crane didn't excite you enough to cause you to blow a fuse.

Suggestion to a considerable percentage of motorists: Try to drive as if you had good sense.

The waning of the popularity of calypso music is cause for worry as it is bound to be succeeded by something even worse.

Please be especially careful not to lose your life in an accident during the long July Fourth week end, as Uncle Sam can scarcely afford to lose any taxpayer now.

The current propensity is unparalleled. Never before have people been able to owe so much. (P. S.—They think they're able to owe it, that is.)

VACATION COMES TO SUBURBIA

State To Give Full Support To Drama On Foster's Life

Acting Governor Harry Lee Waterfield has announced that the state will give full support to production of a historical drama at Bardston, based on Stephen Collins Foster's life.

At the same time, Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson and Mrs. Katherine Connor, department planner, said ideas will be pursued to give the presentation an international appeal.

Dramatist Paul Green, Chapel Hill, N. C., has accepted a commission to write the play. Green is the author of "Wilderness Road", a drama about Kentucky now being presented for the third summer at Berea College.

Waterfield said plans call for building a 1,000 to 1,200-seat amphitheater in a natural setting just off the Old Kentucky Home Golf Course, and not far from the home that inspired Foster's music.

Plans for financing construction have not been completed. Target date for the opening next July 4, Foster's birthday. The drama will be produced by the University of Kentucky drama department.

Glover Will Be Assistant On European Tour

A Morehead State College graduate, Henry Glover, Jr., sailed from New York for summer travel and study in Europe, making the trip for graduate art study given through Columbia (N. Y.) University.

Dr. Jack Arends, Columbia University, an international figure in art, announced he had selected Mr. Glover as assistant tour leader.

The group will visit Greece, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, France and England.

Mr. Glover, art director at Woodward High in Cincinnati, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glover. Morehead, He won the Ohio Valley Art Award for drawing last month against some of the nation's outstanding artists.

Nurses Attend MSC Beginning In Fall

Morehead State College has reorganized its nursing program by affiliating with the Miners Memorial Hospital Association, Harlan, Ky., President Arthur Doran has announced.

Morehead will provide one year of academic training for 50 students accepted each year. The students will then spend two years in the hospitals of the Miners Memorial Hospital Association in eastern Kentucky.

The two-year period in the hospitals will be spent on medical, surgical, pediatric and obstetric nursing while Morehead will provide instruction in the biological, physical and social sciences.

"There is a shortage of nurses in the region served by Morehead State College and the School of Nursing of the Miners said Dr. Doran. "Through our Memorial Hospital Association, Harlan, Ky.,

TB Patients Are Leaving Hospital Earlier

A year or more in the hospital. That's what people with tuberculosis had to face only a few years back. Imagine yourself faced with that prospect, and you'll understand how the TB patient of today feels when he hears words like streptomycin, para-aminosalicylic acid, and isoniazid.

These words are mouthfuls, all right, but he doesn't have to pronounce them. He only has to swallow them. They are modern drugs that mean the TB patient of today can usually go home after only a few months in the hospital.

The shortening of the hospital stay for TB is, probably the greatest advance in recent years—certainly from the patient's point of view. A few months away from home isn't too hard to face. You don't lose contact with home and family and friends. The children still know you when you come home.

Of course, you can't come home and pick right up to hard work. You have to take it easy, follow the doctor's orders, and take modern drugs that mean the TB patient of today can usually go home after only a few months in the hospital.

One of the best examples of the U. S. Army's "new look" is training in Kentucky—the 101st Airborne Division, which calls Fort Campbell home.

This outfit is a "pentomic" or five-sided division which is advancing the army into the age of nuclear weapons and airfields.

Let's the world's precarious balance of power shifts again, and against the U. S., the 101st is being readied to take off for the other side of the globe at a moment's notice, drop upon a trouble spot by parachute with heavy weapons and transport and wage a police action.

The army believes the 101st and divisions like it may act as forces to deter nuclear attack. If a possible aggressor knows the U. S. can fly highly mobile troops across the world at short notice, another Korea might be averted.

A pentomic division comprises five 5,000-man combat groups, instead of regiments. Each group can operate independently of the others, and is equipped with tanks, trucks, and other vehicles.

Veterans Advised On G. I. Loans By R. R. Thomas

A veteran who sells his home purchased by "G.I. loan" to take a better job in another city may be entitled to new loan eligibility. Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board advised.

Thomas said a "better job," according to the Veterans Administration, usually means one that increases the veteran's income or give him greater opportunity for advancement. The director added.

Restoration of eligibility formerly was made only if the loan change was involuntary or because the veteran was discharged. The new rule also applies to veterans moving to a different city or disposing of property.

No loan entitlement can be restored unless the V.A. is relieved of liability on the old loan. This generally is accomplished by payment of the loan in full either by the veteran or the new purchaser.

Other circumstances under which a veteran may be entitled to new loan entitlement occur when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use, destroyed by natural disaster, or disposed of for reasons of health or reasons beyond control of the veteran.

Representatives of the board will assist veterans in applying for restoration of GI loan eligibility.

Writers' Workshop Poems

The following poems were written by persons attending the sixth annual Writers' Workshop:

SCRY
A scry cry across the air's abyss
Clamorous desire disrupting day,
A faint, faint, faint, faint, faint, faint,
warm, deceitful kiss:
Flower was a surfeit.

Lord Judas fruit,
Shadowing betrayal pieces dark
Is a fisher man,
Upon the ground, whose destiny
Can see an sun perambulation down,
Dark Judas fruit.

Deep centered seed
Within a dark heart, and each one prophesies
Of green, sufficing leaf, bright
surfeit flower,
And Judas fruit within whose dark heart, Jean Thompson
Deep centered seed.

SNOW IN APRIL
By Ethel L. Green
Down from the sky it came
Slanting and ceaseless
Murmuring the new spring
Which yesterday was here.

THE FIRST SNOW FALL
By Kathleen Brown Lawson
Cold winter snow is falling
Lies on the ground so white,
And the snowflakes are blowing
Like the storm in my heart to night.

The storm is gray above me,
Tree tops are bending down,
Like me bowed low by sorrow
And the snowflakes to the ground,
As if somewhere beneath the earth
They might find a sweet repose,
And I long to cast my lot with
them,
And escape this land of snows.

STREET SCENE
By Maud Warren Strother
Wizened children pressing puny
faces
Flat against the plate glass of a window
Whose panes of sugar-coated
cookies
And loaves of bread stand side
by side
They look, and then move on
Like little, untamed animals
In grimy fists clenched hard
Against an empty, gnawing pain
That will not go away . . .

LADY'S SLIPPER
By Mary Elizabeth Schwartz
It must be a fairy slipper
Caught neatly on this slim twig.
A mossy fairy slipper
So to-morrow and big.
An old, old, old, old, old, old
Of an Indian fairy being.
Brown ribbons hanging even
Above floor leaves of green.

She must have held high level
Her in the moon-bright air.
Who but a fairy dancing
Would scatter a hundred pair?

You can save yourself a lot of wasted effort if you refuse to be leave everything that you hear
about other people.

Public speaking isn't hard; it's
the thinking before you speak
that's hard.

They might find a sweet repose,
And I long to cast my lot with
them,
And escape this land of snows.

STREET SCENE
By Maud Warren Strother
Wizened children pressing puny
faces
Flat against the plate glass of a window
Whose panes of sugar-coated
cookies
And loaves of bread stand side
by side
They look, and then move on
Like little, untamed animals
In grimy fists clenched hard
Against an empty, gnawing pain
That will not go away . . .

LADY'S SLIPPER
By Mary Elizabeth Schwartz
It must be a fairy slipper
Caught neatly on this slim twig.
A mossy fairy slipper
So to-morrow and big.
An old, old, old, old, old, old
Of an Indian fairy being.
Brown ribbons hanging even
Above floor leaves of green.

She must have held high level
Her in the moon-bright air.
Who but a fairy dancing
Would scatter a hundred pair?

You can save yourself a lot of wasted effort if you refuse to be
leave everything that you hear
about other people.

Public speaking isn't hard; it's
the thinking before you speak
that's hard.

Eagle Athletes Shine During '56-'57 Season

The 1956-'57 season was a good one for Morehead State College athletes.

Last fall, Paul Adams' freshman-dominated football squad broke a 31-game losing streak at Morehead, posted a 3-6 record and came within a whisker of defeating several highly favored OVC opponents.

Soon after the season opened, Morehead was no longer looked at as the "weak sister" of the OVC but as the rugged group of youngsters who are capable of knocking you off at any time.

Then came the basketball season. Bob Laughlin's torrid charges participated in one of the toughest schedules in the nation and posted a 19-8 record, tied for the OVC championship for the second straight year and went to the NCAA tournament also for the second straight year.

The Eagles were listed as one of the top 20 teams by Sports Illustrated—at honor Laughlin's charges justly deserved.

While the footballers and basketballers cavorted before the public, Morehead's less publicized cross-country squad, coached by Nolan Fowler, roared through a conference contender.

Basketball Team To Play One Of Toughest Schedules Ever

Morehead's vaunted basketball team, which posted a 19-8 record while annexing the Ohio Valley Conference co-championship in 1957, will face a rugged 23-game schedule in 1957-58.

New on the schedule are such powers as LaSalle, Alabama, Washington and Lee, Mississippi State, St. Vincent, Tampa and the University of Mississippi.

Old rival Marshall University, Welesham, Bellarmine, Villa Madonna and Ohio University are also on the schedule. The OVC toughies Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, Murray State, Tennessee Tech and Middle Tennessee will always make the going rough.

The Eagles of Bob Laughlin, who drove and flew over the entire eastern half of the United States last year, will again find themselves doing a bit of globe-trotting.

During the Christmas holidays, Laughlin's charges are playing in the Mississippi State Holiday Invitational tournament with host Miss. State, Alabama and Mississippi.

The Eagles' annual northern tour takes the tall and talented players into the Philadelphia to oppose always powerful LaSalle and a short trip to Pittsburgh will see the Eagles facing St. Vincent.

Returning are four of last year's starters and several top-notch reserves.

Heading the returnees will be All-American candidate Steve Hamilton. The 6-7 standout should have a good year.

The Eagles' other "two tappers," 6-7 Dave Keeler and Bernie Shinnick, will join 6-11 Kenny Thompson to form the Eagles' potent nucleus.

The leading reserves who will return are 6-6 Vernon Hight, 6-3 Gene Carroll and 6-5 Gerald "Nub" Yentel.

Expected to give Thompson and Carroll a run for the guard spots are transfer Charlie Greenleaf and freshman Herb Triplett.

Summer Instructors Named

Morehead State College added five instructors for the summer session.

Added to the summer faculty were: Miss Lahoma Maynard, chemistry teacher in the Fort Knox Department school system and a former teacher in Pike County schools; Virginia Smith, assistant for the Western Publishing Company; Fred Dorsey, principal of the Flemingsburg High School; Louise Davidson, librarian at Rensselaer High School; and Willard Sandage, head of the Nicholas County High School.

Dr. Doran has announced that the Board of Trustees has granted leaves of absence during the summer to Miss Patti Bolin, head of the Home Economics Department; Miss Alice Cox, assistant professor of commerce; Dr. William Reebert, professor of history; and Dr. Fenton West, head of the division of science and mathematics.

Dr. John H. Long has been granted a leave from Sept. 1 to Feb. 2, on a $3,000 Guggenheim Fellowship, to study Shakespeare's use of performed music in his plays.

A free press has more to fear than governmental control.
